Market Review & Outlook

From the CIO's Desk

Fund Managers Report - February 2026

After delivering a strong performance through January 2026 when the benchmark index reached an all-time high of 189,167 points (closing at 184,174 points), the market entered a correction phase during February. The index declined by 8.7% MoM, or 16,112 points, closing the month at 168,062 points, effectively erasing the gains accumulated since November 2025.

The correction was driven by a mix of external and domestic factors. Geopolitical tensions in the Middle East, particularly the potential US and Israel confrontation with Iran, raised concerns over a surge in global oil prices and weighed on investor sentiment. Adding to uncertainty, UAE breaking away from tradition of annual rollover of USD2.0 billion loan to Pakistan and putting it on monthly rollover, fueling doubts over near-term external financing. Domestically, rising security concerns following attacks across 12 cities in Balochistan, along with cautionary remarks from Barrick Gold during its earnings call, further unsettled investors. Meanwhile, corporate earnings for the ongoing result season largely fell short of market expectations, dampening market momentum.

Against this backdrop, the market witnessed a notable unwinding of leveraged positions, with leverage declining by Rs46bn during the month to stand at Rs96bn. Foreign investors also remained net sellers, with cumulative outflows amounting to USD 280mn during February.

On the external front, the current account posted a surplus of USD 121mn in Jan'26 owing to lower imports against a deficit of USD 265mn in the preceding month. This brings the current account deficit to USD 1.1bn in the first seven months of FY26 against a surplus of USD 564mn SPLY, driven by the deterioration in trade deficit which has expanded by 31% YoY to USD 18.4bn. The deterioration is primarily led by the decline in food exports that have plunged by 35% YoY and broad-based rise in imports (+10% YoY). Cushioning the external account to some extent, the foreign worker's remittances have depicted a steady growth of 11% YoY to USD 23.2bn.

Consumer Price Index (CPI) clocked-in at 6.98% in Feb'26, the highest reading since Oct'24 owing to the impact of the lower base effect. Inflation for 8MFY26 has averaged at ~5.4% as compared to 5.8% in the same period last year. On a monthly basis, CPI was up by 0.27% MoM on the back of recent increase in electricity prices and the impact of geopolitical tensions which led to a surge in metals' prices (gold, silver etc.). Food segment however, posted a negative growth of 0.86% MoM, in the wake of lower exports of perishables and supply glut due to tensions along the north-western border.

On the sectoral front, key sectors depicted healthy growth during January 2026. OMC sales grew by 10% YoY, while cyclical sectors also performed strongly, with total cement and automobile sales increasing by 12% YoY and 34% YoY, respectively. Automobile volumes reached 23.1k units, the highest level since January 2022. In contrast, fertilizer sales declined by 51% YoY, primarily due to higher-than-expected sales recorded in December 2025.

On the fixed income front, yields increased across the yield curve primarily due to the SBP's decision to maintain the policy rate in the January 2026 MPS. Additionally, uncertainty over expectations of further rate cuts due to geopolitical developments in the near term contributed to the upward movement in yields.

At the shorter end, the 1 and 3-month PKRV increased by 14 bps, closing at 10.35% and 10.34%, respectively. Similarly, the 6 and 12-month PKRV rose by 23 bps and 27 bps, respectively. Yields on longer-tenor instruments also moved upward, mainly due to increased cut-off rates in PIB auctions, which led to adjustments in the secondary market. As a result, the 3, 5, and 10-year PKRV increased by 22 bps, 46 bps, and 50 bps, settling at 10.50%, 11.07%, and 11.60%, respectively.

Looking ahead, money market funds are expected to deliver stable returns. Income funds may experience some volatility, however, they are likely to generate attractive accruals for investors with an investment horizon of 12 months or longer tenor.

After the recent correction of nearly 15% from its all-time high, the benchmark market P/E has declined to around 7.2x from 8.7x previously, creating valuation room and an attractive entry point for long-term equity investors. However, the outlook remains closely tied to developments in global energy markets. A sustained increase in international petroleum prices could lead to a higher import bill, widening the trade deficit and creating energy supply side pressures. This may also translate into higher than expected inflation, which could weigh on domestic demand. Going forward, market sentiment will largely be driven by the geopolitical situation. That said, in the event of an early resolution of the conflict, the combination of relatively low market leverage and renewed buying appetite from domestic institutional investors could trigger a rebound in the market.

We recommend our investors to invest in our equity funds as per their risk appetite and return expectations. For instance, our Al-Ameen Islamic Asset Allocation Fund (AIAAF) offers an appropriate strategy for investors with low to moderate risk tolerance. This fund invests in a diversified portfolio of stocks, bonds, and money market instruments. It has the potential to earn returns well above those on offer in Money Market and Income Funds, while limiting risk by investing no more than 40% of its assets in stocks at any point in time. For those with higher risk tolerance and return expectations, we have Al-Ameen Shariah Stock Fund, which offers pure exposure to the domestic equity market.

We strongly recommend our investors to also invest in our Voluntary Pension Scheme (Al-Ameen Islamic Retirement Savings Fund) in order to avail tax benefits, grow their long-term savings and achieve retirement security. For those with a longer investment horizon, we recommend a high exposure to Equity Sub-Fund of the Scheme. We have been following an aggressive investment strategy in this Sub-Fund considering its long time horizon and low liquidity/redemption pressures. The strategy has performed well and the Equity Sub-Fund has generated an absolute return of 2715.31% (KMI-30 Index: 1413.06% since inception). This translates to an average annualized return of 23.49% p.a. (KMI-30 Index: 18.74% p.a.) - thus outperforming the KMI-30 Index by a significant margin.
